TR Speedway 2010

The 2010 racing season at Travelers Rest Speedway came and went under the new management of Andy Hyde. Over 100 cars showed up week after week to put on some of the best racing seen in the Upstate.. From Young Guns to Crates, drivers came out in full force to support the track, divisions, fans as well as each other.

We have all seen racing many times before, this season however seemed to bring out a new and revived collection of individuals to the sport of dirt track racing. 9 classes started out the year/ However, Limited Sportsman was cut going into the last few months due to low car count and little interest among the fans with the repetitious outcome weekly. One class may have fallen by the way side, but others thrived.

Classes like Front Wheel Drive, Young Guns & Super Stock 4 grew in numbers throughout the year. Many switched from one class to another due to the economical cost, while others switched to a smaller class in an effort to get out of the larger wreck fest of another. Spreading out into other divisions happened naturally and worked out best for everyone including the fans.

2011 is set to be another great year at TR. They may have less classes running, but without a doubt the fans and drivers will make each race spectacular.

#21 Jimmy Roberts Jr. smiles win or lose. He's in it to have fun and do what he does best in the Late Model class.

Rolling in the track weekly has become an event on it's own for families, drivers and fans alike.

The pit view is something to see each and every Saturday night at TR. Working together makes each week spectacular.

#28 Roger Gilliam is always a pleasure to interview.

#57 Lee Cooper making time with a few Late Model drivers to roll in the track.

#45 Buddy Whitworth before his big crash which took him out of racing for many months in 2010.

Father and son Eric & Dereck Burgess getting ready to roll in the track before racing.

#26 Johnny Raines & #04 Ray Storay battle on a weekly basis for 1st place in SS4.

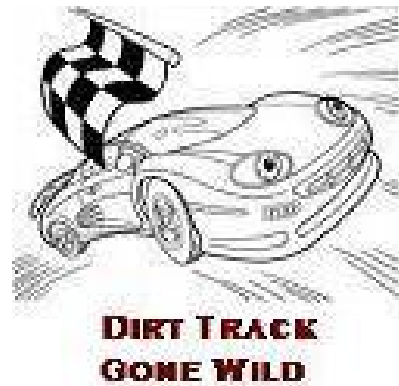

Fan appreciation night is always a favorite among everyone.

The TR Speedway Young Guns class of 2010 were so much fun! Several were new coming into the sport, while others had been racing for a few years. They all became friends even though crashes and bump ups happened between them on several occasions. More often than not, these young adults showed great sportsmanship on and off the track. Many of these youngsters will return in 2011 to this class but a few are moving on to others. We wish them all the best of luck in the new season!
